

Seattle Culinary Tour 2015

Itinerary dates: June 24 – 28, 2015

Tour Leader: Beth Whitman

HIGHLIGHTS

- Enjoy food from some of Seattle's best (and most iconic) restaurants
- Sample wines from the region's nearby wine country
- Take a private food tour of Pike Place Market
- Partake in a hands-on cooking class
- Visit some of the city's best sweet shops, including specialty chocolate and ice cream shops
- Suitable for vegetarians and meat eaters alike

The tour begins on Wednesday afternoon. Arriving via Sea-Tac Airport, participants will make their own way to the hotel in downtown Seattle. A rental car is not necessary.

ITINERARY

Day 1

Wednesday, June 24, 2015

Meals: Dinner

Upon arrival in Seattle, you'll make your way to Hotel Andra, a stylish boutique hotel situated right in downtown Seattle.

Depending on your arrival time, you may have a chance to walk around the downtown or Belltown areas to soak up the Seattle vibe prior to meeting up with the group. Consider visiting the Seattle Art Museum or venturing to Pioneer Square where art galleries are plentiful and local history comes alive.

In the evening, the group will meet in the lobby for the short walk to the Dahlia Lounge for a welcome dinner. This is the first restaurant opened by famed Seattle restaurateur, Tom Douglas, who now has a small empire of restaurants in Seattle and who won the James Beard award for Outstanding Restaurateur in 2012. The Dahlia Lounge was one of the first restaurants in Seattle to feature what has become known as Pacific Northwest cuisine and serves up some of the best desserts in the city. Save room for dessert. You won't regret it!

★ HIGHLIGHT! Tom Douglas is Seattle's very own celebrity chef and Dahlia Lounge is arguably his best restaurant. You'll enjoy dinner in a private room with a sampling of the best menu items, including possibly the most amazing coconut cream pie you'll ever taste.

Day 2

Thursday, June 25, 2015

Meals: Breakfast, Dinner

This morning, we'll walk to a local doughnut shop to sample some of the best breakfast treats in the city and enjoy a wonderful espresso drink. After all, Seattle is famous for its caffeinated beverages. Skinny half-caf latte, anyone?

We'll then walk over to famous Pike Place Market, Seattle's heart and soul, where we'll take a private food tour of the Market with Savor Seattle. We'll meet some of the Market's characters and denizens, while sampling treats along the way.

We might easily be full after a morning of nibbling (and perhaps purchasing some treats for yourself) so we'll take a break after the market tour. If you like, you can join Beth to walk off some of those calories and head to the Seattle Sculpture Garden. If you're still hungry, you might check out one of the nearby food trucks in the downtown area. Or, simply wander, shop, dine and experience Pike Place Market.

In the evening, we'll have dinner at FareStart, a restaurant run by a nonprofit program that trains the homeless and disadvantaged to work in restaurant kitchens. There is a weekly guest chef on Thursday nights so we'll have a surprise treat with a local chef, likely from one of Seattle's top restaurants.

★ HIGHLIGHT! FareStart meals are top-notch as the staff strives to provide a first-class experience for all diners. Great food, yes, but the restaurant has an undeniably positive atmosphere. This is a place of culinary enjoyment, but also a place of help and new starts for many.

Day 3

Friday, June 26, 2015

Meals: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner

Get ready for a filling morning because we'll have a private cooking class at Diane's Market Kitchen, where we'll enjoy a brunch created from local produce and other products straight from Pike Place Market.

After our class, we'll visit World Spice Merchants, The Spanish Table, and Market Spice, all near or in the Pike Place Market. We may even have time for chocolate tasting at Fran's Chocolates!

We'll have some time to wander around the Market before heading to lunch at Matt's in the Market. Here, we'll enjoy tasty cuisine made from fresh, local ingredients, served up with a view of the Market, Elliott Bay and the Olympic Mountains.

If we've got room, we'll then walk over to Beth's favorite cupcake shop, Cupcake Royale, for dessert.

In the afternoon, we'll meet up for a trip to the Seattle Center - and we'll get there on Seattle's famous Monorail. While at Seattle Center, we'll take a break from group activities so you'll have time on your own to visit the Space Needle, Chihuly Garden and Glass, EMP Museum or simply wander the grounds of the Seattle Center. Some attractions do charge admission and these are not included in the overall tour cost.

In the evening, we'll head down to the waterfront and dine at Bell Street Diner, a casual seafood restaurant that's part of the Anthony's family of restaurants. Bell Street has a wide range of options, including chowders, fish tacos, and delicious fish and chips.

After dinner, we'll take a ride on the Seattle Great Wheel for unparalleled views of the city.

★ HIGHLIGHT! Everyone loves Diane from Diane's Market Kitchen. She'll not only regale us with fascinating life stories, but also teach us how to make a couple of yummy brunch dishes.

Day 4

Saturday, June 27, 2015

Meals: Lunch, Dinner

This morning you'll have the option of joining Beth for a walk around the city or sleeping in a bit and grabbing breakfast on your own. After a few days of wonderful meals, a long walk downtown might be just what you need!

By mid-morning, we'll head down to the Seattle waterfront, where we'll board the West Seattle Water Taxi, which will ferry us over to West Seattle. We'll have a late brunch/early lunch at Marination Ma Kai, which grew out of a successful woman-owned, Hawaiian-themed food truck.

Because it wouldn't be a WanderTour without a sweet treat, we'll make our way to West Seattle's Husky Deli for some of the best ice cream in Seattle.

In the afternoon, we'll head over to Woodinville, Seattle's wine country, where we'll taste Washington wines and learn about the varietals for which Washington State is famous.

We'll have dinner at a Seattle classic, Ivar's Salmon House on Lake Union, built in the style of the cedar longhouses of the Northwest coastal tribes. We'll enjoy salmon and other traditionally Northwest dishes with a great view of downtown Seattle and the lake.

Overnight at Hotel Andra.

HIGHLIGHT! We'll get out on the water today for a short ferry ride to West Seattle. Prepare to be wowed by stunning city views.

Day 5

Sunday, June 28, 2015

Meals: Breakfast, Lunch

Greet the morning with a very light breakfast with samples of some of the best pastries in Seattle from Bakery Nouveau. Then check out of Hotel Andra, where you can store your bags.

Then, we're off to Seattle's Ballard neighborhood, where we'll tour the Ballard Farmer's Market. After that, it's time for a farewell lunch at The Whale Wins, the latest restaurant from acclaimed Seattle chef Renee Erickson. The Whale Wins made Bon Appetit's list of best new restaurants of 2013!
